NEIL D'MONTE LAUNCHES CLOTHING LINE

Hellbilly Clothing Line Begins Pre-Orders Begin May 1st

LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA Neil D'Monte, storyboard artist, director, producer, and creator of the comic book Clan of the Vein will be launching his new clothing line at Pasadena's Monster Palooza on June 3, 2022 and at NAMM in Anaheim on the same date. HELLBILLY clothing will begin preorders for THE FALLEN hoodie on May 1st.

THE FALLEN hoodie with an exclusive "bat-wing" design was designed by Neil D'Monte and is a direct contrast to the popular "angel-wing" design. It will be the first item available from the HELLBILLY line. Custom hoodies will also be available and designed by Mateo Massoud (Customs by Mateo) for a more couture look. Ghost Circus Apparel's founder Eli James is helping with custom work on the couture elements as well. A sought-after storyboard artist, this will be Neil D'Monte's first foray into clothing design.

"I started this because friends kept asking me to do artwork for their band logos and tattoos. I thought it would be fun and a great way of expression to design clothing for people who did not necessarily want huge, body-covering tattoos yet want the empowering feel that tattoo art gives them."

In future months, HELLBILLY clothing will also feature swimwear for men and women, joggers, and leggings. Be on the lookout for some members of such big bands as Ministry, The Cult, Metallica and Porno for Pyros/Jane's Addiction to be rocking HELLBILLY hoodies!

Neil D'Monte is a storyboard artist and has been involved in such blockbuster movies as Star Wars Episode 1: The Phantom Menace, Jurassic World, Batman V Superman: Dawn of Justice, Rambo: Last Blood, Palm Springs, and Unbreakable Boy. He is also Producer and Head of Development with Robots of Awesome on the Sony Lot.
